

Order On Hoffa To Stay

Judge Hears Pleas To Convert Order Into Injunction On Union Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts today refused to lift his order restraining James R. Hoffa from taking over as president of the Teamsters Union.

Letts then went ahead with a hearing on pleas to convert the restraining order into a preliminary injunction against Hoffa and to put the 1½-million-member Teamsters Union under court receivers.

Plaintiffs in the case are a group of rank-and-file New York Teamsters members. They claim the recent Teamsters convention which elected Hoffa to succeed Dave Beck was illegal.

Letts quickly denied four motions argued by Teamsters' Atty. Martin O'Donoghue. The motions would have dismissed the existing restraining order and put the case down for trial on its merits.

O'Donoghue said Letts had acted improperly in granting the restraining order last week after a closed hearing in the court's chambers without notice to the union and without giving union attorneys a chance to be present.

O'Donoghue said this violated one of the canons of the American Bar Assn., limiting issuance of restraining orders without opposing counsel being present only to the most urgent cases dictated by dire necessity.

The plaintiff rank-and-file group has charged that Hoffa—accused of corruption in Senate Rackets Committee hearings—rigged his own election at the recent Teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate committee contends more than half the convention delegates were illegally chosen. He said one of the delegates who participated in the convention actually was not elected formally by his local union as a delegate until a week after the convention ended. He did not name the delegate.

Kansas State Wins American Royal Judging

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — Kansas State College of Manhattan was announced winner today of the 11th American Royal intercollegiate wool judging contest held yesterday.

The University of Missouri was named winner yesterday of the Royal intercollegiate livestock judging over the weekend.

Three members of the Kansas State team also won the first three places in individual wool judging: First, Allen Henry, Colby, Kan.; second, Walter Martin, Opolis, Kan.; and third, Dale Schilling, Havensville, Kan.

Other winning teams in wool judging were Texas Tech, second, and Ohio State, third.

One Dissension

Demos Blame Ike For School Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats today accused President Eisenhower of being "substantially responsible for the trouble at Little Rock."

A civil rights statement approved yesterday by 16 of the 24 members of the National Committee's advisory council said the President's responsibility stemmed from his failure "to take an early and firm position for observance of the provisions of the Constitution and laws of the United States."

One council member, Mrs. Benjamin B. Everett of North Carolina, dissented from the accusation, which had the approval of former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, defeated 1952-56 candidate.

The civil rights statement was released through the Democratic National Committee. It was the council's first pronouncement on civil rights since the President sent troops to Little Rock to enforce a federal court school integration order.

The Democrats also chided the President for not having appointed the Civil Rights Commission provided for in the 1957 civil rights law and urged him to move "without further delay" to implement that law.

Six weeks have elapsed since the law became effective, the council statement said, but the commission has not been appointed and an assistant attorney general has not been named to direct enforcement.

"The President has made many other important interim appointments," the council said. "There is no good reason why he should await the next session of Congress before proceeding to organize the commission."

The appointments to the six-member commission are subject to confirmation by the Senate, which will not be in session until next January.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York interpreted the statement as emphasizing that the Democrats don't intend to yield ground in their demand for an effective civil rights program.

Syria Denies Mediation With Turkey

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Foreign Ministry denied today that Syria is about to take part in mediation talks with Turkey under the auspices of King Saud.

An official statement said Syria will carry through its complaint to the U. N. that it is threatened by Turkish troop concentrations on the border.

Maj. Gen. Afif Bizry, army chief of staff, left today for a visit to Saudi Arabia. But the Foreign Ministry said his trip had no connection with reports that Syria and Turkey had accepted Saud's invitation to attend a conference to discuss the Middle East crisis.

A Syrian spokesman said Bizry's trip is in response to an invitation which Saud extended during the King's visit to Syria last month.

Turkey neither confirmed nor denied the report of an impending mediation conference, broadcast last night by the Saudi Arabian radio in Mecca. There were rumors, however, that Premier Adnan Menderes had received a message from Saud.

The Saudi Arabian broadcast said official delegations from Syria and Turkey would arrive today or tomorrow in Damman, Saudi Arabia.

Eisenhower Informs Delegates Being Fair Can Stop Bitterness

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today told representatives of 32 nations that if genuine efforts are made to present both sides in international disputes, "then bitterness will be removed."

The President made the statement in talking informally to about 700 delegates to the International Congress of Insurance Actuaries.

Speaking in the White House rose garden, Eisenhower said there is great value in student exchange programs in promoting a better understanding among nations. He spoke also of his people-to-people program.

3 Advisors To Meet With Ike

Indicates Proposal For US and British Pact On Research

LONDON (AP) — The British government announced today Prime Minister Macmillan will take three top nuclear policy planners to his conference with President Eisenhower in Washington.

This tends to substantiate reports Macmillan will propose at the meeting a U.S.-British partnership in nuclear and rocket research.

The men leaving with Macmillan tomorrow are Sir Richard Powell, permanent secretary of the Defense Ministry; Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority; and Sir Patrick Dean, a deputy under-secretary at the Foreign Office who is charged with political aspects of Britain's atomic energy program.

Others in Macmillan's party are Sir William Hayter, former British ambassador to Moscow and now a general political director at the Foreign Office; Sir Norman Brook, secretary to the Cabinet; and F. A. Bishop and Philip de Zulueta, both private secretaries.

Macmillan took a final look at his Washington plans at a Cabinet meeting today. He was keeping a close watch on developments in the Middle East—a subject he and President Eisenhower are expected to discuss at length.

Under Macmillan's partnership plan, the two Allies would coordinate their scientific effort through a joint planning directorate with headquarters in Washington.

Government Candidate Leads in Guatemala Presidential Vote

GUATEMALA (AP) — Government candidate Miguel Ortiz Passarelli led today in early unofficial returns from the Guatemalan presidential election.

But the leading antigovernment contender, Conservative Gen. Miguel Idigoras Fuentes, claimed he was ahead and threatened a strike if fraud deprives him of the presidency.

The balloting yesterday brought a heavy turnout of voters. Police said there was no violence.

With about a fifth of the votes counted in 62 municipalities, the unofficial tally was Ortiz 43,640, Idigoras 31,568 and Miguel Asturias Quinones 6,404.

The count included the capital city, where Ortiz supporters admitted Idigoras was leading.

The election, the first since 1950, was held to name a successor to Carlos Castillo Armas, who in 1954 overthrew the pro-Communist government of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Castillo was shot down by one of his own guards last July 26.

US High Court Upholds Case Against Virginia School Law

School Officials Appealed After Unconstitutional Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today dealt a death blow to Virginia's Pupil Placement Act.

The tribunal did so by refusing to review a decision in two school segregation cases in which the state's 1956 placement law was declared unconstitutional.

The decision, dealing with tests in Norfolk and Newport News, was given by U. S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk and was affirmed by the U. S. Circuit Court in Richmond.

The refusal to review the decision lets it stand unchanged. The Supreme Court's refusal was announced in a brief order which gave no reason and made no comment.

School officials of both Norfolk and Newport News, joined by the state's attorney general, had appealed.

They contended the action of the lower courts "makes even more difficult of solution the most difficult social problem presented to the people of this country in eight decades."

The appeal said Judge Hoffman acted "with undue impetuosity" and said the cases gave the Supreme Court an opportunity "to lead a large section of our country out of the chaos into which the (1945) decision (against compulsory school segregation) has plunged it."

"The time has come for the Supreme Court to recognize and expound the practicalities of life in these areas and to establish a framework within which public education can continue," the appeal added.

The Virginia law removed power to assign pupils from local school boards and division superintendents, and conferred the authority on a placement board. The appeal said the board was authorized to act on stated bases, "none in any way involving race or color."

The Circuit Court said the law provided no adequate remedy to Negroes because of the fixed policy of Virginia school officials on segregation, and because another act of the Legislature calls for closing of schools and withdrawal of state funds upon any departure from segregation.

The Circuit Court also noted that Hoffman's orders did not require mixing of races in any school — "they merely forbid school officials from refusing to admit Negroes to any school solely on account of race or color."

The appeal to the Supreme Court contended the Circuit Court should not have acted when another case testing the placement law was pending in the Virginia Court of Appeals; under federal rules the validity of a state law may be decided only by a special three-judge U. S. District Court, and Judge Hoffman should not have been upheld when he found the act unconstitutional "on its face and in the abstract in advance of any action or administration (sic) pursuant to the statute."

Virginia's school segregation controversy has figured prominently in the gubernatorial election campaign now in progress.

Farm Worker Fatally Hurt By Machine

Was Attempting To Unchoke Cutter On Monsees Farm

Orlin Lavoid Ritter, 47, formerly of Sedalia, was fatally injured about 9:45 a.m. Monday when he became entangled with a silage cutter. He was engaged in cutting cane with the cutter pulled by a tractor on the farm of Dick Monsees, 3½ miles east of Sedalia, just off of Highway 50 to the south.

Ritter, it was reported, was apparently trying to unchoke the silage cutter which had become choked from the silage. He had failed to shut the machine off and apparently when the cane was loosened he became entangled with the cutter blades, his right arm being caught in the rollers and was pulled into the machine. His right arm was badly mangled, his face on the left side badly slashed and a laceration on the right leg resulted when it apparently struck a pulley wheel.

The silage cutter was powered by a tractor with a power take-off.

Albert Dove, who resides on another farm of Dick Monsees, and Claude Trent of Smithton, were working at the barn when the accident occurred. They were pulling the wagons while Ritter ran the machine and it was not until their return for the wagon at the cutter did they learn of the accident. Dove and Trent went immediately to the Monsees home and notified Monsees of the accident.

Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, went to the scene and after questioning Dove and Trent said an inquest was unnecessary.

Ritter was employed as a farm hand by Olen Monsees, south of Smithton, and had gone to the Dick Monsees farm to help out with the work there, cutting of the silage and filling of the silo.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Ritter's wife, Marian, was in Sedalia visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Fannie Cable, 805 West Main, who is in the hospital suffering from a broken hip received about 10 p.m. Saturday. It was sometime before she was located and notified of the tragedy.

He was born in Camden County, near Climax Springs, May 7, 1909. He was known to his friends in Sedalia as "Blackie," and from 1948 until 1951 was employed by the city fire department at the west Sedalia station.

Surviving him is his wife of their home on the Olen Monsees farm, and his mother who resides in Warsaw.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

Her First Visit

British Queen Gets King-Sized Welcome

NEW YORK (AP) — The Queen of Britain got a king-sized welcome today from New York's millions.

And it was a thrill-a-second event for both monarch and plain citizen.

Busy New York, bursting with civic pride and hospitality, staged one of its historic great greetings to a celebrated visitor. It had all the earmarks of a big, gala picnic spread amid the towering skyscrapers of a city determined to outdo itself in cheery welcome.

For Elizabeth II, it was her first visit to the metropolis linked so closely by name and history to her own empire.

Cheering men, women and children lined the streets to bid her greeting. Boats and ships in the harbor tooted a welcome in a cacophony of sound. Hordes of people jamming skyscraper windows on lower Broadway sent tons of confetti hurtling down during a traditional ticker-tape parade to City Hall.

Elizabeth, followed by her husband, Prince Philip, stepped off a train from Washington at 10:10 a.m. onto a long red carpet at Stapleton, Staten Island, across the harbor to the south of Manhattan.

A radiant smile lit her face as Gov. Averell Harriman and other dignitaries advanced to greet her.

First the queen and her party were driven through streets lined by thousands of flag-waving Staten Island citizens to the island city of St. George.

She also received a 21-gun salute from cannon on Governor's Island at the other side of the harbor, where an Army installation is located.

The ferry docked at the lower tip of Manhattan and the Queen stepped ashore a short distance from the spot where her parents, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, disembarked from a U.S. destroyer during a visit in 1939.

Witnesses Get An Assurance About Peace

"Though world troubles grow darker, the prospects for lasting peace were never brighter," Raymond L. Anderson told an audience of 448 at Convention Hall in Liberty Park. Twenty-one congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses were represented, said Walter H. Meyer, presiding minister of the local congregation. The fruit of the counsel given at such assemblies was highlighted by the baptism of 16 persons. All ministers received beneficial information and putting in effect these points will improve their ministry.

Anderson, district minister of the Watchtower Society from Brooklyn, N. Y., referred repeatedly to the Bible to assure his attentive audience that peace can be attained. "Though peace is not desired by some militarists, munitions makers or power-hungry dictators," he said, "the prospects for peace mean much to the average person."

After tracing man's efforts to attain peace from earliest times until now, Anderson analyzed the reasons for repeated failures to achieve lasting peace. "For one thing," he said, "even if a perfect peace treaty were eventually drafted, imperfect men would not or could not keep it." "Weakness and fear also stand in the way," he added, citing this as the reason for the frenzied stockpiling of weapons by the nations. Other basic problems were pointed out.

Mayor Bagby Cuts Ribbon

Hold the Opening Ceremonies Monday For New Southwestern Bell Building

The ribbon was cut Monday morning on the new $954,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone building, Fifth and Massachusetts, by Mayor Julian H. Bagby, who dug the first shovel of dirt for the building a year and a half ago. Participating in the ribbon cutting ceremony were Norman Pitcairn, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone in Sedalia Milton Overstreet, state representative from Pettis County, Vernon Rodick, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Jack Faber, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Carl Yates.

The entry to the building is through a small corridor, the east and south walls of red brick blending perfectly with the red tile floor. The north wall is completely glass with the entrance door as is the west wall which has the door leading into the business office. Operators working at night call in from a telephone downstairs to identify themselves and the door is opened for them by pressing a button upstairs. When operators leave there is a button on the inside of the front door which they push to open the door that automatically locks as they close it behind them.

The business office is beautiful in a color scheme of green, yellow and gray, with red brick walls, light green and gray tile floors and floor covering of wide strips of green and yellow giving an unusually attractive effect. A large map of the United States at the front of the room will be used for the next month to teach direct distance dialing. Mary Hughes will show how this is done and Monday morning demonstrated the process to Mayor Bagby as the city called lighted up on the map and a small beam of light went from Sedalia on the map to Chicago.

Directly back of the business office is the service office which is also in green and gray. Halls painted the light green shade led to various other small rooms along the way. One being where 10,000 notices were being sent to customers with their new numbers on them, and which will take one girl 25 days steady work to complete the job. The telephone office has over 9,000 customers.

In another room is the local test board to find out where trouble is so that repairs may be made.

A huge room houses the mass of wires and equipment that seemed to be in long sections. All of this equipment came from Chicago, New York and New Jersey, was put together here. In this room, too, was the automatic direct distance machine which records all the calls on rolls which are sent in to the company office in St. Louis every day. These are long distance calls out of Sedalia where you dial your own.

On the second floor there is the traffic room where the switchboards are located, because, Pitcairn explained, even with a dial, it will still take a lot of people to do the job. Nearly a hundred operators will be at the switchboards. On the switchboard the operator will put her ticket in an automatic tube and it will go on down to the desk at the end of the long board. A glass enclosed office is for the chief operator.

The second floor is in gray, with gray walls and gray linoleum.

On this floor, also, is the room for the total test of all boards. There is the controlled transmission line and signaling, the group units, where to Kansas City or St. Louis, ten messages may be sent back and forth on four wires at the same time. Then there is the telegraph carriers. The company is really looking ahead, because they have the place for the radio and television when the time comes for that.

Sputnik Circles Earth 450 Times Faster Than the Moon

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That Queen Elizabeth II may be boss in Buckingham Palace, but when she goes fishing she takes her guidance from her husband, as do most wives...It was Prince Philip who converted her from trout to salmon fishing, now a favorite hobby with both.

That it was hopeful Charles Lamb who said, "not many sounds in life exceed in interest a knock at the door."

That you can't pull hair out by the roots...The tiny white bulb at the bottom of a length of hair, commonly thought to be the root, is no more than the base of the strand...and the root keeps right on growing.

That Russia's speedy Sputnik circles the earth nearly 450 times as quickly as the natural moon.

That the latest joke in East Europe concerns a Moscow factory worker who was sentenced to 10 years for shouting "Khrushchev is a drunken idiot..."

Egyptians Get Sentences For Alleged Plot

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—Former Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah el Din and 10 others today were under sentences ranging from five years to life imprisonment for allegedly plotting President Nasser's assassination.

Their convictions by a military court yesterday and the sentences cannot be appealed. Nasser approved the verdicts.

The prosecution charged that the group arrested in April and indicted in July, planned to kill Nasser and all Cabinet members in order to restore Gen. Mohamed Naguib to the presidency.

They also planned to bring the Communists into the government, army prosecutor Brig. Ibrahim Helmy charged.

Salah el Din was sentenced to 15 years in prison and former Defense Minister Abdel Fattah Hassan to 12 years.

Life sentences were announced for Brig. Ahmed Atef Nassar, accused of being the ringleader, army officers Hassan Syam and Amin Fawzi and civilian Abdel Hamid Islambili.

Retired Maj. Ghanem el Saidy got 10 years, Capt. Ahmed Kawab and civilians Mohammed Sawady and Ahmed Sakka 7 years and retired Col. Hassan Abdel Ghaffar 5 years.

Mohammed Hilmy Ibrahim and Ahmed Ghannam, both retired army officers, were acquitted.

Salah el Din and Hassan were Cabinet ministers in the governments of the old Wafdist party before King Farouk was overthrown. The prosecution charged that Salah el Din was slated to be prime minister and Hassan minister of the interior if Naguib were restored.

All defendants pleaded innocent before the five-man military panel. During the trial they repudiated confessions signed earlier.

EXPANDING POPULATION—What the populations of the 48 states will probably be like by 1970 is indicated on the Newsmap above. It illustrates projections made by the Bureau of the Census which are based on three factors: migration, birth rate and mortality rate. The western states are expected to lead the increase, with California eventually outstripping New York as the most populous state in the union. According to Census Bureau estimates, the total U.S. population in 1970 will be in the neighborhood of 220 million people. That only 15 million of this total will reside on farms is an important indicator of the changing make-up of our population and economy. The estimated population at present, as recently announced by the Bureau, stands at 171,790,000, an increase of over 20 million since the last official census in 1950.

AEC Receives Verbal Slap For Slowness

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (U)—A conference on atoms for power has scored the Atomic Energy Commission for allegedly failing to make sufficient progress in the power field.

In a 3,000-word report, conferees at the 12th American Assembly at Arden Horse demanded yesterday that the AEC assume "more positive leadership."

Ending a four-day meeting, they asserted that "there is an urgent need for a thorough review of the United States atomic power program."

The conferees included 65 nuclear scientists, industrialists, government officials, newspaper publishers and educators. Their report warned that a lagging atomic power program could harm the United States' position in the cold war.

A review of the country's atomic power program, the report said, "should lead to a clear formulation of the program's objectives in terms of the national power needs of the United States in the long run as well as immediate requirements of the United States foreign policy."

Among the conferees were Harold S. Vance, a member of the AEC, and Sumner Pike and Gordon E. Dean, former AEC members.

Among others were: Dr. Isidore I. Rabi, Higgins professor of physics at Columbia University; Paul Black Jr., publisher of the Toledo Blade; John Cowles, president of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune; Dr. Henry Smyth, chairman of the Board of Scientific and Engineering Research.

Car Plunges Into Canal Beside Florida Road, Seven Occupants Die

NAPLES, Fla. (U)—A car plunged into a canal beside the Naples-Miami road early Sunday and all seven of its occupants drowned.

A Negro dance band known as the House Rockers was returning in two cars to Miami after a playing date Saturday night in Fort Myers. One of the cars went off the side, drowning three men and women, all members of the band, and the 8-month-old son of one of the victims.

Police said the car's driver apparently dozed at the wheel. The victims, all of Miami, were Herbert Blatch, 30; Mrs. Barbara Jean Blatch, 33; Mary Louise Campbell, 21; her son Hugh Mack; Villa Lee, 21; Kenneth Simmons, 33; and Ben Williams, 28.

Princeton University; and Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N. J.

Henry M. Wriston, president of the assembly which is associated with Columbia University, presided.

The assembly said private industry cannot carry an atomic power program without federal aid. The law should be amended, the report said, to eliminate restrictions on subsidies.

A minority of the conferees voted against large subsidies. The government itself should construct atomic power plants both large and small for demonstration purposes, this group held.

Government and private industry must work together, the report said.

There is no rush for atomic power in the United States, the report said, but long-range needs including the demands of foreign countries require a vigorous research program.

Rossellini Goes Home to Paris, Waiting Ingrid

GENEVA (U)—Italian film director Roberto Rossellini is en route to Paris, presumably for that long-deferred reunion with Ingrid Bergman.

Whether Rossellini also will see Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, the Indian woman whose name has been linked with his, was not known.

Flying from Bombay, Rossellini will change planes here today.

Sources in India said the director's ultimate destination was Rome, where he would edit documentary films he has made in India. These sources said he would stay in Europe only 10 days, then return to India for three more months of filming.

Miss Bergman, who is playing on the Paris stage, has persistently denied rumors of a rift with her husband over his reported romance with Mrs. Das Gupta.

The Indian woman, who reportedly left her husband for Rossellini, arrived in Paris Oct. 6 and hasn't been heard of since. Rumors were current that she hoped to persuade Miss Bergman to let her have Rossellini, but the actress angrily said she hadn't seen Sonali and didn't plan to.

Phi Phi Chapter Study, Famous Women

Phi Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Oct. 14 at the library where Miss Mary English showed a film on the life of Helen Keller. At 18 months she suffered a fever that took her sight and hearing. The movie told of her education under the expert guidance of Anne Mansfield Sullivan. Her life long fight to help other sightless children; meetings with such famous people as John Whittier, Grover Cleveland, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and many others. Her trips are not limited to the United States but many foreign countries in an effort to inspire the blind to a fuller life. The movie was an inspiration to all present. This was the second movie to be seen on the study of famous women.

The group then went to Virginia Buso's home for a short business meeting. Janet Barker, Sue Englund and Lois Bohon were appointed to arrange for pictures to be entered in the International Valentine Queen contest.

Betty Schlobohm presented the chapter with a box of candy, a Beta Sigma Phi tradition when a girl becomes engaged.

A farewell gift was presented to Ramona Swihart, assistant advisor to Phi Phi Chapter. She will be moving to Tulsa, Okla. Reservations were taken for City Council Halloween party, Monday, Oct. 21 at the home of Margaret Dougherty. Five guests attended the meeting and all signed pledge card to become members of Phi Phi Chapter. They were: Janet Barker, Doris McNutt, Barbara Shoemaker, Patricia Weir and Laura Lee Young.

The preferential tea will be held at the Homestead, Monday, Oct. 20 at 8:00 p.m.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Miss Buso and her co-hostess, Betty Schlobohm.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Anderson, Kansas City and Mr. and Mrs. Fichter, Route 2, Hughesville, have returned from a two-week trip to Florida.

They visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haas, Ocala, Fla., former Sedalia; visited the Cypress Gardens, Bok Singing Tower and other points of interest.

In Miami they went to the Miami Memorial Cemetery where Mrs. Anderson's and Mrs. Fichter's brother, the late Norvel Clay McFarland, is buried. They visited his wife and son. They also visited Mrs. Marie Shay and the Dr. W. A. Shoemaker family, cousins of George Fichter. They went bathing in the Gulf and returned home 65 highway through Arkansas and Missouri which they said was a change of scenery but very beautiful this time of year.

Woman Appeals Her Release From Mail Job

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Miss Edith M. Johnson, removed as post-mistress at Des Moines, Iowa, last month, has filed an appeal to the Civil Service Commission here, charging her removal was for political reasons.

Kirby Smith, head of the appeals section of the commission's regional office, said today the appeal will be considered by Regional Director John W. Godbold, who will decide whether an investigation is necessary.

A Post Office Department spokesman announced her removal Sept. 6 and said it was because of unsatisfactory service. The spokesman said two specific charges against Miss Johnson were failure to cooperate with regional postal officials and a waste of manpower. She denied the charges.

17 Children, 4 Adults Die In Six Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventeen children and four adults died yesterday in six fires in Texas, Ohio, New Jersey and upstate New York.

In Belpre, Ohio, a 36-year-old mother and seven of her nine children perished in a fire apparently started by defective wiring. Found huddled around the television set in the living room were Mrs. Vivian Snider; her daughters Linda, 14, Sheila, 11, Mona, 7, and Reta Jo, 5 months; and her sons Mickey, 9, David, 3, and Danny, 2.

Firemen said they died of suffocation. Mrs. Snider's husband, Lloyd, 40, a glass worker, and one child were visiting relatives in Vienna, W. Va., and the other child was in a hospital.

Four children were asphyxiated in their frame house in Amarillo, Tex., while their father, Airman 2.C. Aaron White, of Amarillo Air Force Base, was taking a babysitter home. His wife Lurine, 22, was ill with influenza at the base hospital.

Neighbors said the youngsters were in the back bedroom of the house when fire swept through the living room and kitchen.

They were Kathy, 6, Aaron, 4, Sharon, 2, and Stanley, 18 months.

Four children in a Newark, N.J. family died when flames trapped them in the third floor of a tenement. Their parents and a fifth child suffered injuries when they jumped to the street.

Through the six-family frame tenement, Godfrey Taylor, 34, thinking his family was safe, jumped to a second floor window ledge and then to the street.

His wife, clutching her 8-year-old daughter Rita in her arms, leaped 45 feet to the sidewalk before a net could be stretched.

The girl was critically injured while the Taylors were in fair condition at Marlton Medical Center with burns.

Found dead by firemen in the apartment were four of the children, Godfrey Jr., 9, Marilyn 7, James, 5, and Ronnie, 1.

A family of three died in Beach Haven, N. J., when fire trapped them in their ranch-type home as they tried to escape through narrow windows.

Firemen found Howard Dalman, 48, his wife Catherine, 44, and their daughter Kay, 15, dead in the ashes of the home that Dalman, a carpenter, had built.

In Bloomfield, N. J., Harold Phillips, 31, a bridegroom of six weeks, was killed in a fire. Police said a lighted cigarette apparently set his attic apartment ablaze. Two other couples in the building fled to safety. Phillips' wife Rose was not home at the time.

A 14-month-old boy was burned fatally in a fire that destroyed his father's bowling alley and apartment in the Catskill mountain village of Hunter, N. Y. The boy, John Hadasky, died at Greene County Memorial Hospital. His parents, Edward, 31, and Dorothy 27, were in critical condition.

Of the 3,000 long distance calls, Pitcairn said, there will be about 1,000 self dial calls. On the first call out of town to a certain number information will give the number and after that it may be jotted down and kept for any time later when the number may just be dialed.

The women's lounge on the second floor is very complete, even to a small kitchen with stove, refrigerator, snack bar and above, a cabinet for the dishes. Here the women employees may fix themselves snacks. The walls are rose beige and there are many comfortable chairs and a sofa for the girls during their lunch periods. There are mirrors, too, some of them full length.

By December, said Pitcairn, all of the employees will be in the new building, and in January or February open house will be held so that all of the customers may go through the building. In addition to the two floors there is also a third floor in the basement and with the planning ahead the building is so constructed that another story may be added when needed.

Fires In the City
The fire companies at 6:45 a. m. Monday were called to the residence of Mrs. Stokess Harris, 216 East Cooper, where fire started from a defective stove pipe. Damage resulting to the house and contents was estimated at $500 and $200.

A line of hose had to be laid out to get water to fight the flames.

lems were listed as being selfishness and the existence and influence of the devil and his demons. "Jesus was no allegorical figure," said Anderson, "neither did he entertain wrong or rebellious thoughts. So his conversation with the devil recorded at Luke Chapter 4 must have been with a real personage, giving meaning to other Scriptural warnings against his rebellious, warlike attitude."

Practical instruction on how to prepare a Bible sermon was given, and busy pencils noted the Scriptural references. Fellow ministers were shown the importance of using suitable introductions to fit the varied circumstances.

Anderson further said that more than 394,000 persons had been baptized between 1950 and 1956, or more than 56,000 persons per year. "This assembly has done much to enhance civic interests and Christian principles of daily living in this area," he stated.

Armed Forces To Have Less Men and Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — By next summer there will be a million fewer men in the armed forces than at the end of the Korean War. There also will be fewer military bases and less military buying of hardware and other goods.

Over-all, it is the biggest defense cutback since the wholesale curtailment after World War II. And the tempo is stepping up sharply.

When the Eisenhower administration program in 1953, that objective was based primarily on the idea of nuclear and jet age weapons to provide more firepower for fewer men.

Today there are strong overtones of economy, reflecting the administration's determination to keep the budget balanced and hold national spending within the 275-billion-dollar debt limit.

A series of Pentagon orders, previously issued or now coming out, calls for:

1. Trimming total military manpower from a 1953 level of 3,600,000 to a mid-1958 level of 2,600,000. Still further trimming may be in prospect.

2. Reducing civilian employees of the defense establishment by at least 350,000 from a force of 1 1/2 million.

3. Closing down or curtailing operations at more than 100 bases, government-operated plants or plants run for the government by private firms.

4. Reducing the Air Force unit structure by not less than nine wings—and possibly more. The Air Force had 137 wings last spring. Orders now call for a cut to 128 wings. There have been hints the ultimate level might be lower. A wing ranges from 45 bombers to 75 fighter planes.

5. Cutting the Army to 15 divisions. The Army had 20 in 1953, the same number in 1955. It now has 17. There also are reductions in smaller units.

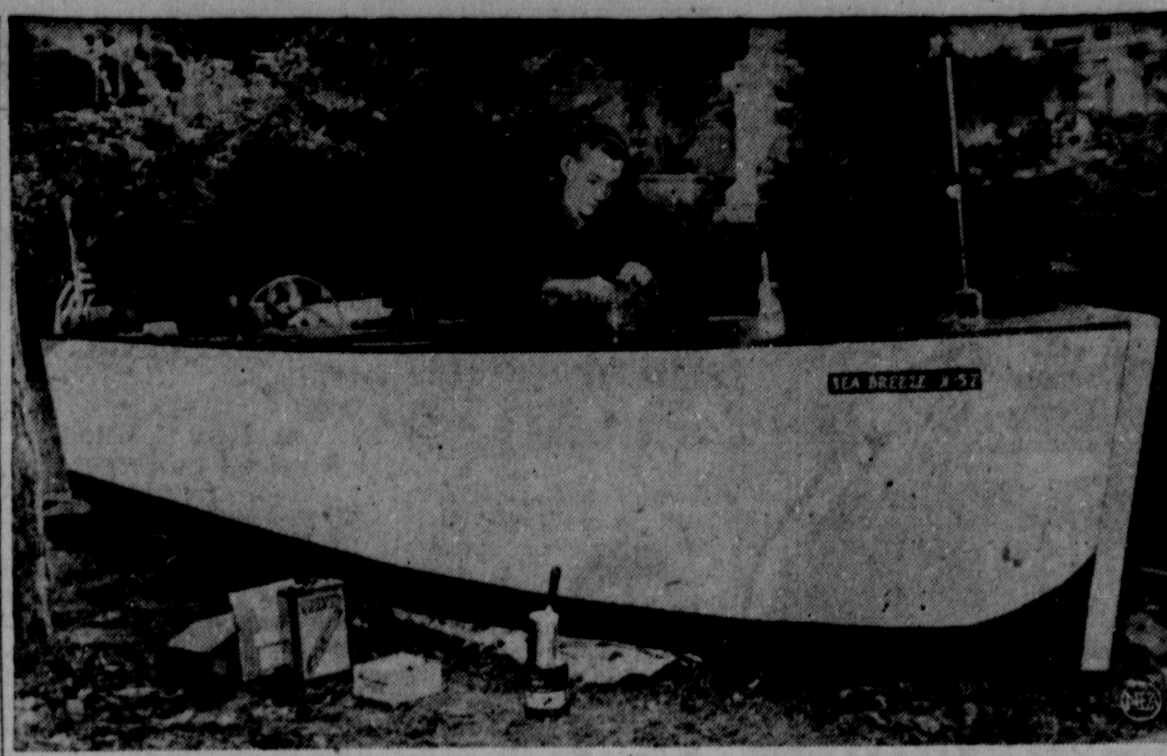

6. Shrinking the Navy's active fleet to 901 ships by next June 30. Last June, the fleet had 967 ships. There now are about 940.

7. Delaying delivery (termed the stretchout method) or terminating outright contracts for a wide variety of equipment and supplies, ranging from jet bombers to petroleum.

GRASS GROWS UNDER HIS BOAT—James Schuyler, a do-it-yourself addict, puts the finishing touches on the 15-foot outboard motorboat he built on the front lawn of his home in St. Louis, Mo. The 15-year-old "grass admiral" started building the boat in the garage, but moved out to the lawn where there was more room. He's received plenty of offers of help from passers-by, most of whom he says, "just get in the way." Jim is just about set to take the boat, which cost him about $180, including a secondhand motor, out on its shakedown cruise.

Series of Small Mishaps Send Boy to Hospital

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Although the hospital calls his condition satisfactory, George A. Fiske, 4, doesn't see it that way at all.

From his bed today, George contemplated the following events of the week just past:

Wednesday he cut his finger on a broken bottle. His mother, Mrs. George F. Fiske, bandaged it for him.

Thursday, while romping about the living room with his brothers Glen, 5, and Paul, 3, he smacked into a chest of drawers. At Sisters Hospital four stitches were taken in his head and George was sent home.

Friday, Mrs. Fiske was in the basement washing diapers for baby Karen, 7 months, with all four children watching.

When she said "Let's go up stairs and get an apple," George was caught in the stampede up the stairs and fell. At Sisters Hospital, they stitched up a cut on his chin.

Saturday, George fell strangely silent, confessed to his mother he had a headache, and finally admitted he'd cracked his head on the edge of a bathtub.

At Sisters Hospital, they found he had a slight concussion and this time took him in.

"Poor George," sighed his mother last night, "he's always the fall guy."

Meanwhile, back at the hospital, George sobbed to a visitor, "I need to go home."

Schuman Declines
PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty today asked former Premier Robert Schuman, a Christian Democrat, to form a new government. Schuman declined.

The current political crisis began Sept. 30 when the government of Maurice Bourgès-Maunoury collapsed in a National Assembly vote on his bill for partial home rule in rebellious Algeria.

US Sixth Fleet Has Extra Men, Ships in Crisis

ROME (AP)—Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown said today 6,200 Marines and a flotilla of warships scheduled to return home three weeks ago have stayed on with his U. S. 6th Fleet during the Turkish-Syrian crisis.

The fleet's strength with regard to Marine manpower, he said, "is more than four-fold greater as long as those boys are with us."

Eight thousand Marines and about 30 extra ships joined Brown's atomic-armed, 50-ship fleet in mid-September for a NATO exercise off Turkey. The ships and all but 1,800 of the Marines were to return home immediately after the exercise.

In answer to an Associated Press query, Brown cabled:

"By decision of higher authority, the 8,000 Marines and associated shipping are being retained in the Mediterranean for the present in order to conduct further exercises and familiarization visits."

"The normal amphibious capability of the 6th Fleet is a reinforced battalion of 1,800 Marines embarked in a squadron of amphibious shipping."

"So it can be easily seen that our strength in this respect is more than four-fold greater as long as these boys are with us."

The Marines, of the 4th Provisional Marine Air-Ground Task Force, have with them artillery and rockets capable of firing atomic shells.

Express, Local Trains Collide In Turkey, 40 to 50 Are Killed

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — An Athens-bound express and a local train heading toward Istanbul collided in Turkish Thrace last night and railroad officials estimated 40 to 50 Turkish passengers were killed and 150 injured.

While ambulances from Istanbul screamed to the scene, rescue workers probed through the tangled metal for victims. Bodies were crushed in the cars of the local train and sprawled along the rain-damp ground beside the tracks.

A rescue train reached the scene, about 30 miles northwest of Istanbul, and brought most of the severely injured back to the Turkish metropolis.

The express was called the Simplon Balkan—not to be confused with the famed Simplon Orient Express.

No bodies of foreigners were found. Authorities said most of the dead and injured were in the local train, although some Western-bound Turkish students were killed.

A Retreat From Crises

Many times nowadays we read or hear that we are in an age of blandness, marked by a lack of action and excitement and by the mildness of people's reactions to issues and events.

There doesn't seem to be much doubt that it's true.

In spite of talk of the dangers of nuclear fall-out, Russian claims in the inter-continental missile field, Communist gains in the Middle East and some other discouragements abroad, we are all pretty calm and cool.

Nothing having to do with the vital matter of war and peace appears to stir us greatly at this moment.

The same evidently holds for things on the domestic front. Civil rights here and there arouses some citizens, but not really a lot. Few seem worried over the mixed trends shown by the economy, for general levels are still very high. Internal communism, once the focus of bitter controversy, is little mentioned.

Some who keep hammering about our bland mood plainly believe it is a bad condition for America to be in. They want us to act, to do battle, to generate excitement, to feel deeply about ideas and happenings.

There is, of course, no conclusive evidence—nor is there likely to be—that Americans do not feel deeply about the basic things that govern their lives.

But quite a few would argue that it is not bad, and may be quite inevitable, that we should be floating along these days in a kind of neutral gear.

We had a steady diet of excitement for more than two decades — the 1929 crash, the Great Depression, World War II, the turmoil of postwar readjustment, the Cold War, the Korean conflict. Is it so odd that people should seek a retreat after that?

In our personal lives we know that we cannot sustain either mental or emotional peaks indefinitely. It is too taxing. Why should it be different in our group national life?

Americans will be aroused again, when there is need to be. But meantime they are behaving as quite normal human beings when they seek out a belt of calms after so many years of stormy seas.

To some liberal citizens and politicians, the present mood of the people is infuriating and frustrating. They want action, vigorous programs, conflict, excitement.

They might consider that 35,500,000 Americans may have voted for President Eisenhower in 1956 partly because his first term seemed to promise a second four years of government almost exactly tailored to their need.

In other words, they may have gotten just what they wanted. And who is to say that, in a democracy, that is bad?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

N. Y. Mayor Won't Meet Queen's Train

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Mayor Bob Wagner of New York, who would not receive King Saud of Saudi Arabia but did receive Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus, is playing it very safe with the Queen of England. When the Queen's special Baltimore and Ohio train arrives in Staten Island, the mayor will not be on hand to meet her. He will wait until she arrives at City Hall.

Quite a hullabaloo was raised when Eisenhower previously declined to meet the president of Brazil, the president of Italy, the King and Queen of Greece, and other chiefs of state when they arrived at Washington airport or Washington Union Station. He waited at the White House. In the case of King Saud, like made an exception and went to the airport. This was why British officials made sure that the President would put the Queen of England at least in the same category as the King of Saudi Arabia and go to meet her at the airport. He did.

But the mayor of New York is a law unto himself. He claims that proper protocol requires that he await the Queen at City Hall. Another mayor, born in Ireland, warmhearted Bill O'Dwyer, did not follow this policy. I recall that when I arrived in New York with the Friendship Train, Mayor O'Dwyer did not wait at City Hall, but went down to the battery at the lower tip of Broadway to meet me and ride up Broadway in the same car.

But Mayor Wagner, whose father was born in Germany, will wait in regal splendor in City Hall to greet the Queen of England, whose ancestors likewise were born in Germany.

Note—Up for re-election next month, the mayor figures there are a lot of Irish voters plus some Greek voters in New York.

White House News Curtain

The problem of getting news out of the White House is becoming more and more difficult. White House correspondents recently made a formal protest against the brushoff given them by the new Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy. He was a lot different from garrulous Charlie Wilson, his predecessor.

About ten days before the arrival of Queen Elizabeth, the UP's Merriman Smith, dean of White House correspondents, had a showdown with White House press secretary Jim Hagerty. Smith had made repeated queries on various questions, was unable to get answers. Finally he said:

"Up in Newport we couldn't get anything from the President because he was on his vacation. Now the excuse is that he's busy getting ready for Queen Elizabeth."

"I can't see that he has to do much to prepare for the Queen's visit. He goes to meet her once. And he gives her a dinner. What is keeping him so busy? Is he going to cook the meal?"

News still continues tight around the White House.

Big Oil vs. Little Oil
In the days when trust-busting Thurman Arnold was keeping an eagle eye on big business as head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, he brought a historic suit against the big oil companies for getting kickbacks from the oil pipelines they owned.

With the oil moguls paying less to pump their oil through their subsidiary pipelines, the independent oil companies were out of luck. They couldn't compete. Arnold won his case and got a consent decree limiting the oil companies to a seven per cent profit of their pipelines.

But like many consent decrees in antitrust cases, it has been flagrantly flouted. The oil companies thumbed their nose at the court and Attorney General Brownell's Justice Department did nothing about it.

Finally, Congressman Mannie Celler of New York announced an investigation. Three weeks after his announcement, the Justice Department figured that it might be shown up in a bad light. So it got busy, filed suit against Standard Oil of Indiana, owner of the Service Pipe Line Company; Tidewater Oil Company, owner of Tidal Pipe Line Company; Arapahoe Pipe Line Company, owned by Sinclair Refining Company and Pure Oil; and the Texas Pipe Line Company, owned by the Texas Company.

Congressman Celler has already accomplished a lot, but he'll go ahead with his probe anyway.

One Man's Sacrifice
Some people claim Washington is a stony-hearted city, full of bureaucrats, retired Army-Navy officers, defeated politicians who think more about the places they came from than the city in which they now live. Maybe it used to be that way. I don't know.

But I do know that the other day I was sitting with a man who was busier than the proverbial one-armed paper-hanger, but who took time out to do all sorts of things for his community. He was never too busy to handle the drive for Christmas seals, or the Red Cross, or the campaign to aid crippled children, though he was the head of the Hecht Company and three big department stores.

I was with Harry Davidow that day, planning a campaign to aid juvenile delinquency through the big brothers. With us was Herbert Goodman of Remington-Rand, another busy man who can always find time to help others.

We worked for more than an hour. Outside Davidow's office other people were waiting. We left. Shortly after we left Harry Davidow suffered a stroke, never rallied. He died giving himself to his community.

Harry Davidow was a Jew. Herb Goodman, who is heading the Big Brothers Fund drive, is a Catholic. This fact was accidental. But I like to think of that cooperation and Harry Davidow's sacrifice as the kind that makes this country great, and proves that Washington, D.C., is not the stony-hearted city people sometimes say it is.

Fable For The Future

By ED CREAM

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fable for the future:

As it turned out, the United States and Russia landed on the moon at the same time. One American. One Russian. Each jabbed a flagpole into the lava-like ground. The Stars and Stripes, faced the Hammer and Sickle. Then the two pioneers grinned at each other.

"Sputnik," said the American, since that was the only Russian word he knew.

"Brooklyn," replied the Russian who had a sister there. They set about their respective scientific chores, bouncing lightly about in the weak moon gravity. Each made a broadcast to the folks back home. By some unspoken agreement neither pioneer mentioned that another pioneer was present.

Then, exhausted, they sat down together.

"Brooklyn," said the American, tentatively.

"Sputnik," replied the Russian, politely.

Conversation lagged. It is hard to talk through a space helmet even if you know the language. But then the Russian produced a pocket chess set. The American's eyes lighted.

"Pawn to queen's four," he murmured, and made his opening move.

The chess match ended in a draw. Then, needing exercise, they Indian-wrestled. Exhausted, they traded dictionaries.

"Peace," said the American in Russian.

"It's wonderful," grinned the Russian in English.

They were at the point of embracing when their short wave radios began crackling furiously.

"It's war!" cried the pioneers in simultaneous Russian and English.

They listened, appalled. Washington was in ruins, Moscow but a memory. New York was in rubble. Radioactive rats scurried through the scorched bricks that had been Leningrad.

Gradually the two pioneers drew apart.

"You . . . started . . . it," said the American reproachfully, spelling out the words from his borrowed dictionary.

"No . . . you . . . did," retorted the Russian, who could say "no" in any language.

Suddenly the American's radio

"Understand Russians also landed on moon. Essential to preservation of American way of life that they be wiped out to the last man."

Trained to obedience, the American raised his atomic rifle.

"Nyet!" cried the Russian, frantically leafing through the dictionary.

"Must," cried the American hoarsely. "Orders. Kill you to last man."

"Man? Man?" screamed the Russian, thumbing pages madly.

"But . . . I . . . not . . . man . . . I woman!"

This, children, explains why there is peace on the moon today, even if there is a frightful shortage of child-size space helmets.

New Office Quarters For House Solons, $67 Million

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — There's more noise heard on Capitol Hill now than the Congressmen make when in session!

What the racket of construction machinery means is that our Senators and Representatives (who screamed economy all during the last session) are going to live more comfortably and elegantly during their office hours.

The new quarters for Representatives will cost nearly three times ($67 million) more than the almost finished new $32 million dollar Senate Office Building. But there are only 96 Senators to 435 Representatives!

And this isn't all. Out of a total of $200 million, some will be spent on the purchase of 12 acres of land, the remodeling of the present office building and on certain changes in the Capitol itself.

Why all this?

With the growth of the country in population and importance, it's recognized the members work harder and stay longer in the capital than they used to do. This means larger staffs needing elbow room, parking space and eating facilities. Some 9,400 employees now work "on the hill."

A big 500 seat auditorium will take care of the next "McCarthy" kind of hearing. The Pages will have a school in the new Senate building.

Every Senator will have a five-room suite. Included will be three washrooms, one for the Senator, and one each for men and women staff members. Each Senator's chair will cost $300 to $400.

Underground will be parking space for 10,000 cars. More private dining rooms for Senators only are to be provided. And, of course, bomb shelters.

But the loudest roar of protest didn't come from the economy-minded.

Prison Investigation Based On Anonymous Reports

The current investigation of the state prison by a legislative committee has been largely based on anonymous letters and rumors.

Rep. Raymond Hopfinger, chairman of the committee, admits that many of his questions have been based on letters—largely unsigned. The committee's work has mainly been concerned with conflicts between Col. James D. Carter, director of corrections, and Warden E. V. Nash.

Asked if these letters were possibly from disgruntled and biased employees, Hopfinger said many of the letters were mailed from as far away as Florida and California. He said other leads for the committee had come from rumors he had picked up in St. Louis and other places.

So far, the committee has been unable to do much but prove that the rumors about the prison are either incorrect or mere trivia.

Hopfinger has pushed the investigation and claims it is entirely impartial. "I'm entirely unbiased," Hopfinger said but added moments later that he believes Nash and Deputy Warden W. P. Steinhauer "are two of the best prison officials in the United States."

Hopfinger admits knowing Steinhauer for 25 years. Nash moved into the job of warden from the highway patrol. Carter has had a number of years of penal experience although mainly in military prisons.

The St. Louis legislator says he will make a report to the governor on conditions at the prison soon—either as committee chairman, or if the 12 member committee disapproves, as a private citizen. Gov. James T. Blair commented that he might get around to reading the report in the next few years.

State Parks To Get Inmates As Workers

The eyes of Missouri will be on the Lake of the Ozarks state park when the state department of corrections sets up a work camp for convicts in the park this winter.

The proposed project could save the state considerable money as well as relieving overcrowding at the state penitentiary and prison farms. The attorney general cleared the way for the project recently by upholding the legality of the use of convict labor for improving state parks.

Col. James D. Carter, director of corrections, and Joseph Jaeger, Jr., park director, are already making plans to use some 30 trustees for such work as clearing underbrush, building fences, digging ditches and planting trees in park. Carter said group camp buildings in the park would be used to house the convict workers. Carter said convicts who would be sent to the state park camp would be carefully screened men "who have already proved themselves as trustworthy at the prison farms." The corrections director said he hoped to use mainly convicts who have only a few months to serve on their sentences.

Carter said the prison work camp will undoubtedly provide a great incentive among the prisoners. He said the convict workers will be paid a dollar a day from park funds for their work with the money withheld until the release of the inmates from prison. Normally, prison inmates are paid about $1.50 a month for their work in prison industries.

The prison camp at the state park near Kaiser, Mo., will only be operated from October to May—while the park is generally not in use. Carter said if the Lake Ozarks project is successful, other prison camps will be set up in different state parks.

Jurisdictional Row Looms Over Highway Employees

Another union has started competing with the Teamsters union in organizing highway department workers and it looks like a jurisdictional battle may be eventually underway.

The Teamsters union started organizing highway employees several months ago, using State Representatives Paul Amick (D-Marie County) and W. T. Bollinger (D-Carter County) as organizers.

Now, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees has started an attempt at organizing the highway workers. This union already has locals at the state prison and state mental hospitals.

Burns said highway department employees are dissatisfied over a number of job conditions and want organized representation. The complaints include overtime without pay and lack of sick leave and vacations for employees paid on an hourly basis.

Burns said Rex Whitton, chief engineer, feels that the employees' problems can be worked out by the Highway Department Employees Association—a sort of company union. But the union official doesn't think that complaints can be made before a company union without endangering the employees' jobs.

Asked if his organization would also hire members of the general assembly as organizers, Burns said, "We can't pay state legislators the salaries that the Teamsters can." He said a former prison and state hospital employee, Elmer Dennis of New Bloomfield, has been hired as organizer for the state, county and municipal employees union.

Air Reserve Group Holds Training Meet

The first specialized training meeting of Flight "S" of the 9716th Sq., Kansas City Air Reserve Center, was held at the show room of the Pat O'Connor Buick Agency, Warrensburg, on Oct. 14.

Lt. Aubrey Frederick presided at the meeting as instructor. A brief orientation of the lesson material and course was given by Lt. Frederick. The course will cover a period of six months and will be in the pay status. Maj. Shodwick, flight commander, gave a brief report on the Commanders' Conference which he attended in Kansas City on Oct. 7.

The next meeting of the Reserve Flight will be held tonight at the same location, and any reservist interested in becoming an active member of the unit may contact the commander or Lt. Aubrey Frederick.

Reports Record Seedlings To Be Available for Farms

Orders Can Be Placed Now With Agents

Inventories at the Missouri Conservation Commission nurseries indicate that approximately 18 million tree and shrub seedlings will be available for planting on Missouri farms in 1958. This is a record output for the nurseries and should assure every farmer who wishes to plant a forest or wildlife plot to obtain sufficient seedlings. However, supplies of some of the most popular species are usually exhausted before the planting season begins, so it's wise to order early and have your seedlings reserved.

Orders can be placed at this time through county extension agent offices in each county in the state. Trees and shrubs will be shipped at the proper time for planting during the period Feb. 20 to April 20, next year.

In planning for ordering trees the proper species for the type of planting, and the size of the area to be planted need to be determined beforehand. Agricultural Extension Service circular, 563 entitled, "Planting and Care of Forest Trees" contains a planting guide which will be helpful in deciding which species of seedlings will best serve your needs. Ask your county agent for a copy of this circular.

The spacing and the number of trees per acre vary for different types of plantations. For example, if a small, idle area is to be planted to trees which will produce timber products such as posts, poles or logs, the spacing should be approximately six and one-half by six and one-half feet and 1000 trees will be required per acre.

If the area is to be planted to Christmas trees the spacing should be reduced to four by four feet and 2700 trees will be needed for one acre. For windbreak planting the trees should be spaced from six and one-half to eight feet apart in the rows and the distance between the rows can range from six and one-half to 12 feet. Multiflora rose plants are ordinarily spaced six inches apart in the planting furrows. The area to be planted should be measured or stepped off and the proper number of seedlings ordered to complete the job.

The prices of planting stock range from $4 to $10 per thousand delivered to the county. The Conservation Commission prefers not to accept orders for less than 200 trees. As has always been true, trees which are purchased through this program must not be used for ornamental, landscaping, or shade tree purposes. Trees for such uses should be purchased from your local nurseryman.

The complete list of species which are available include shortleaf, Scotch, white, Virginia, jack and loblolly pines, red cedar, black locust, green ash, catalpa, osage orange, tulip-poplar, black walnut, and multiflora rose seedlings. In addition, there are several types of wildlife bundles.

The plantations which have been most successful during drought years are those which were well prepared before planting and kept cleanly cultivated. Plow the site as early as possible this fall and place your order for planting stock. Ask your county agent for a copy of circular 563 "Planting and Care of Forest Trees." He also has the necessary application blanks and will help you place your order.

Farmer Is Killed

PRINCETON, Mo. (AP)—A farmer, caught between a cattle loading chute and a backing truck, was injured fatally on a farm near here Saturday.

The victim was Thomas Thurman, 45, who had moved to the farm from Kansas City only two days before.

SAVE A HAND

Don't let this happen to your hand, says the Missouri Safety Council. Always stop the tractor before you leave the tractor seat.

Plastic Pipe Has Value For Farms

There is a real place for plastic pipe in farm water systems, according to Ralph Ricketts, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Missouri. Plastic pipe won't decay or rust and most chemicals won't affect it. Also there is less friction loss with plastic than with metal pipe. A three-quarter inch plastic pipe will carry more water than the same size metal pipe, Ricketts says.

One of the main advantages of plastic pipe is the ease of installation. The pipe comes in coils 100 to 400 feet long and from one-half inch to three inches in diameter. All the tools needed for installation are a screwdriver and a hacksaw or knife. It weighs only one-eighth as much as metal pipe and will corrode less than metal.

However, Ricketts says, there are disadvantages to the use of plastic pipe. The pipe can become overheated—water with temperatures above 140 degrees will affect the pipe—and hot sunlight will also affect it. Don't use the pipe inside buildings or in fields infested by rodents. These pests may gnaw through the plastic. Keep all pipe compound away from the plastic, Ricketts says, and don't force the pipe over fittings or the plastic may split.

In laying plastic pipe, Ricketts advises making sure that no rocks will be in contact with the pipe in the trench. Cover the pipe with rock-free soil before backfilling with rocky earth.

Most of the plastic pipe is rated at 75 pounds per square inch pressure. Some pipe is made for 100, even 140 pounds pressure. Freezing water in the pipes won't hurt the pipe, Ricketts says, but may injure the fittings.

The cost of plastic pipe is approximately the same as galvanized.

Missouri Leads Soil Bank Wheat Acreage; Other States Low

Missouri leads in the number of wheat acreage reserve agreements for 1958 according to recent figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. More than nine thousand agreements have been registered in the state, which puts nearly 170,000 Missouri wheat acres in the soil bank reserve as compared with about 80,000 acres last year.

In nearly all other states, however, the USDA reports total wheat acreage placed in reserve is only last year. As of Sept. 30 only two million acres were in the soil bank program as compared to over six million last year at that time. If present agreements are complied with, participating farmers will be eligible for payments next year totaling over 40 million dollars, the USDA says.

To Hold First Of 4 Forums On October 30

We are looking forward to this year's Farm Forum. This public program, the ninth annual Farm Forum of the Missouri College of Agriculture, will begin on Oct. 30 in Columbia. I say begin because the program in Columbia on Oct. 30 will be the first of four to be held in four different Missouri cities on four different dates. The second one will be in St. Joseph on Nov. 6, the third in Springfield on Nov. 7, and the fourth will be held in Cape Girardeau on Nov. 12. The program on each of these dates will be identical in the subject matter to be discussed, but the speakers will vary somewhat.

Many of you know that the purpose of our Farm Forums has been and is to discuss with farmers, agricultural leaders and others interested in agriculture matters of public policy that have a bearing on agriculture. The subject chosen for this year's Forum is "Farm Programs," with these questions raised:

Shall we scrap 'em?
Shall we keep 'em?
Shall we change 'em?
Shall we substitute some new ones?

The subject of farm programs is extremely important to farmers, to agricultural leaders in business, public service, and farm organizations, and to all American citizens. Such discussion now is quite timely. Farm organizations are engaged in formulating suggestions to make to the next session of Congress. Commodity groups are searching for programs. Congressional hearings are scheduled throughout this winter. There are a number of indications that the Congress expects to make significant changes in the farm program in the next session. The future welfare of agriculture in terms of government programs is not so much in the hands of our elective representatives as it is in the hands of the people represented by the elected representatives.

The Forum at Columbia will feature two out-of-state speakers, Prof. Carl Bottom from the Department of Agricultural Economics at Purdue University, and Prof. Gale Johnson from the University of Chicago. Both of these men have given major attention to the study of problems in this field of public policy and are well qualified to be our speakers.

Because of the opportunity of hearing these two men from Purdue and Chicago at the Columbia Forum, you are urged to attend the Columbia Forum in addition to the one located in your area.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County
By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

Dates Ahead

Saturday night, Nov. 9—4-H Recognition Banquet at Smith-Cotton cafeteria.

Township Elections

This past Thursday evening the county extension staff held four meetings over Pettis County to make final plans for the township elections in November. A number of folks have been confused and thought these elections were to be in October because the date was announced so far in advance.

All the election meetings will be held the same evening. The date was announced early so as to be able to obtain meeting places before they were scheduled for something else. The actual date is Monday night, Nov. 18.

By holding all the meetings the same night it will be impossible for the agents to attend any of them. Because of this each agent has been assigned four or five townships where he or she is responsible for helping set up the program ahead of time.

That was the purpose of the meetings Thursday night. Miss O'Brian met at Hughesville with representatives from Blackwater, Houstonia, Hughesville and Dresden. Mr. Fox met in the assembly room at the courthouse with folks from Heaths Creek, Longwood, Cedar and Bowling Green. Mr. Lewellen met at the extension office with Lake Creek, Flat Creek, Smithton and Sedalia and I met at Green Ridge with representatives from Washington, Green Ridge, Prairie, LaMonte and Elk Fork townships.

The general program has really already been worked out. The two members of the Extension Council will conduct the elections in each township, one 4-H club in the township will conduct a skit on the over all extension program and one home economics club in each township will promote attendance ahead of time, will serve as hostess at the meeting and will serve refreshments at the end.

The Thursday night meetings were for the two members of the council, the 4-H leader whose club will present the skit and the home economics club president whose club will serve that night as hostess. Of course the other 4-H clubs and home economics clubs in the townships are also working on the promotion of attendance.

At each of the four meetings the general order of business for the whole meeting was reviewed and the rest of the time was spent going over a number of questions on the extension program.

Time to Get Heifers Vaccinated for Brucellosis

A lady called the extension office the other day about getting a heifer vaccinated for brucellosis. The heifer was nearly eight months old and the lady knew that that was about the top age that animals could still be vaccinated.

There are really two groups of people which will include most of the owners in the county that will soon have heifers that are of the age to vaccinate.

First I am thinking of the herds that have not yet been tested for the presence of the disease. Many of this year's calves are approaching seven to eight months of age which is usually the maximum age for which vaccination is recommended. By getting the herds tested now they can also get those heifers vaccinated free of charge and start building up a herd of calfood vaccinated animals. Also the market for any reactors might be better now than after more gross cattle get on the market.

Now, for the herds tested and calfood vaccinated this spring. There should be a bunch of heifers there of the proper age to vaccinate. I expect several neighbors may need to make arrangements together so a veterinarian can have enough to afford to make the trip out.

It is my understanding that the free vaccination will be continued after the county is cleared up. However, the veterinarian gets a very small fee per head. To allow him to come out financially on his trip, the calves of several herds should be lined up to get the same trip.

The same is true on the original test. There are several advantages of several neighbors working together to get that test made. First they can help each other and second they help the veterinarian.

Third, they help themselves because if any disease is found in the neighborhood it is moved right out before it can do too much spreading. If one herd is skipped it might be the one with the reactors.

It has been stated several times that even though different townships were assigned to certain veterinarians, that anyone can go ahead and have the veterinarian they want, do the work.

An eight-inch berry pie generally needs about three cups of the fruit, three-quarters cup of sugar, two tablespoons of flour and a good dash of salt.

Missouri Corn Price Expected To Be Down

The average price for new Missouri corn is expected to center around $1 during harvest, or 3 cents below the national average support price.

Prices received by southeast Missouri farmers for their new crop at the start of harvest is ranging from 95 cents to $1.09 a bushel, according to D. N. Harrington, University of Missouri agricultural economist.

Sorghum grain prices in the state are expected to be 30 cents below the 1957 support price of $1.83 per hundredweight.

There was a seasonal decline in the national average corn price last month. Sept. 16 corn prices were 14 cents lower than a month earlier, and grain sorghums were 27 cents lower. Compared with a year ago these prices are 25 and 39 cents lower respectively.

Crop prospects played a major role in these declines, says Harrington. Grain sorghum production, forecast at 481 million bushels Sept. 1, is up 15 per cent from August, two and one-third times larger than last year's crop, and three times larger than the 10-year average.

Although the corn crop is 7 per cent smaller than last year, it still ranks seventh largest in size with a predicted 3196 million bushels for this year.

The sale of out-of-condition Commodity Credit Corporation corn by competitive bid rather than the "formula price" sales method formerly used will tend to depress corn prices this year, Harrington said. Up to Sept. 4 sales of CCC corn for the season were 290 million bushels as compared to 191 million during the same period last year.

Valley Teams Meet Strong Foes Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Missouri Valley Conference football simmers down to non-league activity this week with the two strongest teams, Houston and Cincinnati, meeting especially rugged opposition.

Houston, which turned a blocked punt into a touchdown and a 6-6 tie with Oklahoma State Saturday, will meet undefeated and untied Auburn in a homecoming feature at Houston Saturday night.

Cincinnati, 14-0 winner over Marquette, will tangle with potent College of Pacific in a day game at Cincinnati Saturday.

While only one conference team will be involved, the North Texas State-San Jose State game at San Jose will count as a league tilt for North Texas State. North Texas won its first game of the season Saturday over Tulsa, 14-12. It was Tulsa's fifth straight loss of the campaign.

Wichita has a much needed open date. The Shockers lost their fifth game in a row to Hardin-Simmons, 27-14.

Drake and Bradley, both Valley members but not competing for the championship, will meet at Peoria, Ill., Saturday night if Drake is sufficiently recovered from the flu by that time.

Oklahoma State University, a long-time Valley powerhouse in all sports until resigning to join the Eight last spring, completed its mopping up operations in its former league in the tie with Houston. But for a fumble late in the fourth quarter, Oklahoma State likely would have had a perfect record against the four Valley teams it played. Wichita, North Texas State and Tulsa were the other victims.

Saturday's highlights:
At Houston — Sammy B. Lount sneaked two yards with a minute remaining for the touchdown that gained Houston a tie. The Cougars had blocked a punt on the State 24-yard line and used seven plays to score. Blount's attempt for the extra point was wide.

At Tulsa — Center Fred Way's two conversions accounted for North Texas State's victory over Tulsa. North Texas led 6-0 at the half and 7-6 through the third quarter.

At Abilene, Tex.—Wichita played well enough on the ground but fell before the passing of Abilene Christian's Ken Ford, who completed 10 of 17 for 133 yards and three touchdowns.

Russo, Pigeon Meet in Return Bout Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Danny Russo and Eddie Pigeon Lynch, a couple of New York welterweight prospects, who kicked up a storm in their first clash two months ago, collide in a return 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The bout will be telecast by Dumont at 8:30 p.m. (CST).

Russo, of Brooklyn, won a split decision in their first meeting. This one figures to be another tight battle.

Lynch, 22, has a 11-2 record. Russo's record is 11-3.

Veteran Kid Gavilan meets Mexico's 22-year-old Gaspar Ortega in a 12-round return bout at Los Angeles' Wrigley Field Tuesday night. The 37-year-old Cuban upset the rangy Mexican at Miami Beach last July 31 to end a five-fight losing streak.

Middleweight Bobby Boyd of Chicago, winner of five straight this year, is favored over Frankie Suzina of Germany at Syracuse, N. Y. ABC TV, 8 p.m. (CST), Wednesday night. Boyd beat the German at Miami Beach last March 26. Suzina has won four straight.

Paolo Rossi and Johnny Busso, a couple of lightweight contenders from New York, meet in the 10-round feature at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night. NBC radio TV, 8 p.m. CST. Rossi, unbeaten in four fights this year, is ranked fifth among the contenders. Busso is rated ninth.

Tom Harmon Is Better After Surgery

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Television and radio sports commentator Tom Harmon is reported recovering from an operation for a lung infection.

Harmon has been in St. John's Hospital for more than a week. His physician said the operation Saturday was successful and no evidence of malignancy was found.

The physician said the onetime University of Michigan All-American (1939-40) would be unable to resume broadcasting for at least two weeks.

Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State head football coach, played under Clarence (Biggie) Munn at Syracuse University when the latter was football line coach for the Orangemen. Munn now is Spartan athletic director.

Mrs. Calvin Self Heads Auxiliary Of Fox Hunters

Mrs. Calvin Self, Smithton, was elected president of the Missouri State Fox Hunters Auxiliary at the annual meeting held at Bonne Terre at the same time the Missouri Fox Hunters Association met. Mrs. William M. McGee of Sedalia was elected secretary-treasurer and the vice-president is Mrs. Junior Smedley, New Cambria.

The auxiliary meeting was held in Bonne Terre City Park and was presided over by Mrs. George Petty, Versailles, president.

Mrs. Roxanna Miller of Indianapolis received a gift for traveling the longest distance to the meeting and Mrs. Marilyn O'Dell for she and her husband bringing the most hounds to the hunt, which was seven.

A gift was also presented by Mrs. George Petty to the fox hunter who was the oldest fox hunter entering hounds for the hunt. This was John Burnham of Dixon. The presentation was made at the bench show which climaxed the convention.

Calvin Self of Smithton was master of hounds and Jesse Goode of Sedalia was one of the 22 field judges.

The hunt was well attended by the fox hunters and wives from all parts of Missouri and several other states.

Bonne Terre people showed much interest and offered very good entertainment.

NFL Has Jamup As Cleveland, Colts Go Down

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

Philadelphia bounced Cleveland, Detroit stunned Baltimore — and just like that it's a jamup today in the National Football League.

Five teams hold a share of first place. Everyone's been whipped at least once and what looked to be a possible pullaway for the Browns and Colts now has all the earmarks of another flip-flop donkeybrook.

Both the Eagles and Lions created the chaos yesterday by getting even with opponents they'd bowed to quietly in earlier games. The Eagles beat Cleveland 17-7 and Detroit upset Baltimore 31-27. The Colts had led 27-3 midway of the third period.

Cleveland's loss dropped the Browns into a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference with New York's world champion Giants, who routed Pittsburgh 35-0 in their home opener. Detroit and Baltimore share the Western Conference leadership with San Francisco, which pulled even at 3-1 by cuffing Green Bay 24-14.

In other games, the Chicago Cards routed Washington 44-14 to tie Pittsburgh for third in the East, both only a game off the co-leaders, pace, and Chicago's slumbering Bears finally got into the win column, calling on rookie Willie Gailmore for four touchdowns in a 34-26 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Miners, Bears Share Top Rung In MIAA Race

Rolla's merry Miners and the Springfield Bears share the top rung in the M.I.A.A. football race with two victories apiece. Cape Girardeau is the only other member that has not lost inside the conference, but the Indians are charged with one tie.

Both Rolla and Springfield won last Saturday. Rolla whipped Maryville 37-21 and Springfield outlasted Kirksville 32-26. Warrensburg and Cape played to a sparkling 20-20 tie in a game that featured Warrensburg's homecoming.

This Saturday Cape Girardeau and Rolla will play at Rolla, Warrensburg and Springfield at Springfield and Maryville at Kirksville at Kirksville.

In the M.C.A.A.U. the William Jewell and Missouri Valley game, which annually settles the unofficial conference championship, will be played at Marshall Saturday. Neither team appears as strong as in past seasons, but the game shapes up as a close contest.

Last Saturday Missouri Valley defeated Conway, Ark., College 41-19. Dana, Neb., beat Tarkio's flu-ridden team 18-7. Culver-Stockton beat The Principia 25-20. Graceland lambasted Central 53-7.

In non-conference games Saturday Central will play at College of Ozarks, while Culver-Stockton will be host to Illinois College. Tarkio will play Graceland at Lemoni, Iowa, Friday.

In two years as coach at St. John's University, Jack Kaiser has seen his baseball teams win 37 games and lose only 9 for an .804 average.

Although a halfback at Syracuse, Jim Brown will be tried at fullback by the Cleveland Browns during the first season in pro football.

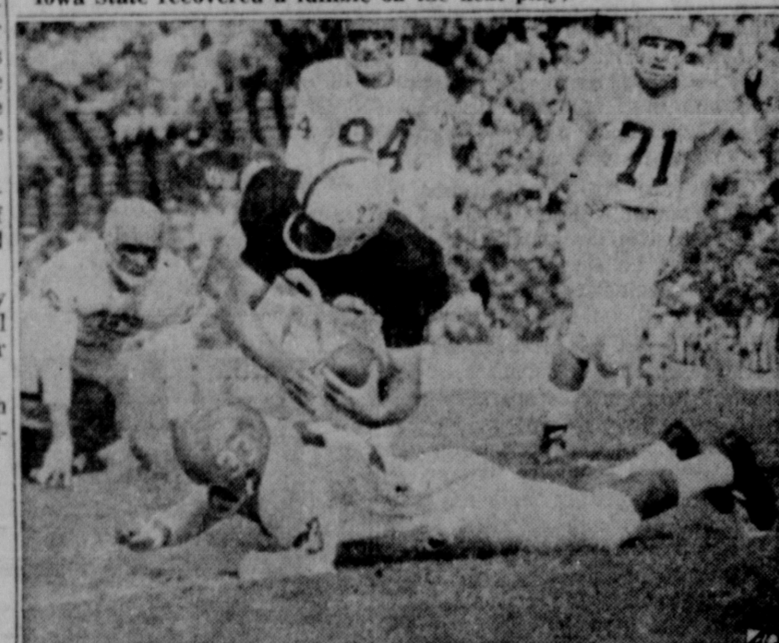

Light-heavyweight contender Tony Anthony, unlike the majority of fighters today, has never worked at any job but boxing.

LONGEST RUN—Jerry Curtright, fleet Missouri back, sets out on longest run of the game with Iowa State College at Ames, Ia.—a 61-yard dash from his own 31-yard line to the Iowa State 5. Iowa State recovered a fumble on the next play.

but Curtright's dash resulted in a touchdown after a poor Iowa State punt gave Missouri the ball on the 10 yard line. Missouri won 35-13.

OKLAHOMA DRIVES AGAINST KANSAS—Carl Dodd, Oklahoma quarterback, rips off a five-yard gain to the Kansas 29 during a first quarter touchdown drive at Norman, Okla., Oct. 19. The powerful Sooners buried Kansas under an avalanche of touchdowns to win the Big Eight game 47-0. Oklahoma now has won 41 consecutive games, scored in 129 straight games and played 61 Big Eight games without defeat. A crowd of 50,000 watched Oklahoma push its 1957 record to 4-0.

Colorado to Make Another Try at Defeating Oklahoma

By SKIPPER PATRICK
The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado, the Big Eight football team that gives Oklahoma more trouble than anybody but is never able to get the job done, will give it another big try at Norman, Okla., Saturday.

The game will be telecast regionally. Oklahoma put in another bid for the No. 1 spot in the national rankings by humbling Kansas 47-0 at Norman Saturday. Colorado racked up Kansas State 42-14 at Manhattan.

The Oklahomans have now won 44 games in a row and haven't been defeated in their last 61 Big Eight conference games. The last blemish on the Sooners' record was a 21-21 tie with Colorado in 1952. Colorado played it close last year, leading 19-6 at the half before Oklahoma exploded for a 27-19 victory.

Considerable interest will be focused on Columbia, Mo., where Missouri has Nebraska as its homecoming guest. The Tigers opened their conference schedule at Ames, Iowa, Saturday by defeating Iowa State 35-13 in a surprising display of offensive talent.

Nebraska lost its fourth game against one victory, 26-9, to Syracuse at Lincoln.

Kansas State and Iowa State will meet in a conference game at Ames. It will be an important one for both teams. Kansas State has lost its first two conference games. Iowa State would like to return to the high regard it was commanding prior to the Missouri game.

Oklahoma State, a new member and not eligible for the football title until 1960, has an open date this week after playing Houston at 6-6 the Saturday night.

Saturday's highlights:
At Norman—Five of the seven Oklahoma touchdowns were scored by the Sooners' alternate unit as Coach Bud Wilkinson called on 54 players to lash Kansas. The great Clendon Thomas, used sparingly, scored one touchdown and ran the ball 15 times for 120 yards.

At Ames — Missouri broke the game open with two touchdowns in the third quarter that broke a 7-7 deadlock with Iowa State. Sophomore quarterback Phil Snowden scored two touchdowns and passed for two. Missouri, a dull team offensively in earlier games, rushed for 327 yards as its line blocked excellently.

At Manhattan — Halfbacks Bob Stransky and Eddie Dove each scored three touchdowns as Colorado beat Kansas State with surprising ease. It was never a contest as Colorado led 21-0 at the half and 35-0 through three quarters. Colorado picked up an amazing 647 yards rushing and passing. At Lincoln — Undermanned Nebraska got a 9-7 first quarter lead over Syracuse but fell before the invaders' nifty passing that clicked for 141 yards on seven completions in 10 tries.

Syracuse Basketball Tourney to Start

The Syracuse Junior High School basketball tournament opens Tuesday through Saturday. Twelve teams have been entered this year with the opening game to start at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. Syracuse and Latham "tip-off" the first game of the bracket.

Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock Tipton and Fortuna play, followed at 8:30 by Versailles and Stover.

The Wednesday games will be played as follows: Camdenton vs. Osage at 6:30; Pilot Grove vs. Tipton at 7:30; and California vs. Smithton at 8:30.

There will be three games each day through Saturday, all being played on the same time table as the earlier games of the week.

Texas U. Has Hopes of Title This Season

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—For a team that last year lost 9 games out of 10 and had positively the worst defensive record extant, the University of Texas is enjoying a sensational football season.

Nine days ago Texas played Oklahoma down to the last gun before losing 21-7. One week later, the Longhorns whipped a fine Arkansas team that was undefeated and ranked 10th in the nation 17-0.

Now the folks are talking about a Southwest Conference championship and a great duel with ancient enemy, undefeated Texas A.M. on Thanksgiving Day.

There are some mighty tough teams to be played before then. Rice next Saturday, for instance.

But Texas already has had a great season, winning three out of five and commanding respect from everybody. How did it do it? A defense is the secret. Good old "jaw to jaw" football, as Coach Darrell Royal puts it.

When the former Oklahoma quarterback took over the despairing Longhorns this year, he found that the basic weaknesses were lack of defense and an adequate kicking game.

He found which players wanted to play—that is, who would mix it up and continue to mix it regardless of what happened. So, few of last year's regular team are on this year's outfit. There are 11 sophomores among the top 22. Only Walter Fondren, the talented quarterback, is playing from last season's backfield.

The defense is 50 per cent improved.

Kansas City Man, St. Louis Woman Lead in Bowling

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rip Craig of Kansas City led the women and Tom Hennessey of St. Louis topped the men in qualifying over the weekend for the State Scratch Bowling Tournament to be held here Nov. 2-3.

Kansas City qualified four in the women's division, and St. Louis four.

The big surprise was the failure of Don Carter of St. Louis, three-time national champion, to qualify. He finished 14th at 4,588.

Haney Signs Best Contract of Career As Braves Manager

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Fred Haney's only worry now is answering the thousands of congratulatory letters he received after his Braves won the World Series.

The game little manager said as much Saturday when he signed a new one-year contract to manage the world's champions in 1958.

The pact, by far the best he has received in his 34 years as a player and manager in the majors and minors, calls for an estimated $40,000.

Haney came to terms after what was described as a five-minute conference with Joseph Cairnes, president of the Braves, and John Quinn, general manager.

After Haney had affixed his name to the yellow document he said, "I'm very happy and pleased with the way things have developed."

REA Chief Debunks 'Public Power' Claim

WASHINGTON (U)—Administrator David A. Hamel of the Rural Electrification Administration takes issue with those who refer to his setup as "public power." Writing in a magazine issued by his agency, Hamel points out that the REA makes loans to farmer cooperatives to provide electrical power for themselves and others in their rural areas.

"I have no quarrel with 'public power,'" he said, "but I know that rural electric cooperatives are private enterprise in its truest sense."

Monday night C. M. Marshall attended a meeting at Eldon.

L. T. Busby, Poplar Bluff, president of the Locker Assn. and Frank Aikins, Atchison, Kan., called on Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Marshall Tuesday.

Bob Kirk, Wichita, Kan., and John Kirk visited Sunday with the Bealier families and other friends.

Mrs. Charlie Corson and daughter, Debby, Ottumwa, and Mrs. Driskell, Sedalia, were Hughesville callers Wednesday.

Leland Bealier, Mrs. Ollie Bealier and Mrs. Wess Grimes spent Wednesday at the Lake of the Ozarks.

Mrs. Das McClure and son, Jack, spent last weekend in Okmulgee, Okla., with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tuck, there on business. Mrs. Tuck returned home with them Tuesday for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wheeler and Wau-nita spent Monday night with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gerken and sons near Green Ridge.

Says Approach, Not Gags Kills Television Comics

CHICAGO (U)—As the nation's top television comics topple from sight like ducks in a shooting gallery, the standard explanation is that TV is a monster that gobbles up material.

Casualties have included such TV luminaries as Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Red Buttons, Wally Cox, Buddy Hackett, Rialto troupe pester George Gobel, Jackie Gleason and Phil Silvers.

In most cases, as ratings drop there are fast maneuvers to find new writers to produce new and hopefully better material. Failure of the material is usually blamed for rocky ratings.

Mort Sahl, a rising young Chicago entertainer, suggests that this is a lot of baloney.

"They didn't have anything to say in the first place," Sahl insists. "And unless you have something to say, all the material in the world won't help you. There's no reason a comedian can't go on forever and ever on TV."

For devotees of Sahl, the bushy-haired, slightly unhandsome young man comes across as a super-intellectual Will Rogers. In the cult rising around him, comedian is a dirty word. To them—and to numerous critics—Sahl is a humorist.

Thus, Sahl on stage—or before the TV cameras—does not employ gags with socko punchlines. For instance, here is Sahl talking about go-now, pay-later travel:

"Well, the problem is that when a lot of passengers get home, the trip is no longer real to them and they stop making payments. But now some of the travel agencies have worked out ways of repossessing the trip. If you're prestige-ridden, they can take the stickers off your luggage, which is the end. Or, if you're an incurable romantic they can brainwash you, so you won't remember Paris."

For this sort of material, a man doesn't necessarily need a writer, just a mind able to take a telling bite on any sensitive part of the body politic.

This quality has made the 30-year-old performer an enticing though perplexing piece of property for TV. He is one of those TV oddities—a performer who received $25,000 for a one-year NBC contract yet appeared before cameras so seldom even his mother wouldn't have time to recognize him.

Sahl started out in the nightclub business in San Francisco. He lost his first job in a Chicago club, but since he scored heavily. One result of the pressure for his nightclub services is that he now commands a fee of $3,000 a week.

The value of such a nice salary, Sahl says, is that less people try to tell him to change his act, or soft-pedal some of the things he says. "With this money, no one

Coroner's Jury Says Boy Killed Father In Self-Defense

BROOKFIELD (U)—A coroner's jury held that a 14-year-old boy who killed his father struck the fatal blow in self-defense.

Ralph Glidewell, 63, a plumber's helper, was killed early Sunday when struck on the head with a stove poker.

His son, James Lee, a high school freshman, was reported by Chief of Police J. W. Clark to have told officers his father came home intoxicated and began hitting his wife. The youth, Clark said, hit his father in self defense.

The coroner's jury found yesterday that Glidewell "died of wounds on the head inflicted by his son, James Lee, in defense of himself and his mother."

Increased Efficiency In Dairy Production Cuts Down Surpluses

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Increasing efficiency in United States dairy production is cutting down on surpluses, the president of the Milk Industry Foundation told some 4,000 dairy representatives today.

C. Raymond Brock of New Haven, Conn., addressed an opening day general session of the 50th annual convention of dairy industry associations from the United States, Canada and abroad.

Brock said the "real price" of milk is decreasing.

"In spite of face-value price increases for milk over the years," he said, "the real price of milk continues to drop. In 1890 the average U. S. factory worker had to work for 26 minutes to earn a quart of milk. Today he has to work only 7 minutes."

Consumption of manufactured dairy products, except cottage cheese, has decreased, Brock said. "However, increased fluid milk sales are taking up the slack for manufactured products," he added.

Illini Meet Big Ten Giant After Minnesota Upset

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Illinois jumps right from the frying pan into the fire this week and Coach Ray Eliot and his band of Illini know right where they're heading.

They skipped out of the frying pan Saturday when they upset Minnesota 34-13.

This Saturday, they hit the fire against Michigan State, the badly mangled giant of the Big Ten. The Spartans, No. 1 team in the country in last week's Associated Press poll, were trampled by flurried Purdue 20-13 in the biggest upset of the season so far.

"Michigan State will be really out to get us now," Eliot said today. "And to make matters worse, it's their homecoming."

The Purdue defeat could cause Michigan State to lose a Rose Bowl bid. Ohio State and Iowa, the defending champion, still are undefeated in conference play.

On the other side of the Rose Bowl, the Pacific Coast Conference, things are just as misty. Washington State could have neatly wrapped it up Saturday by beating Oregon.

But Oregon won the game 14-13 when State quarterback Bobby Newman missed the extra point after the Cougars' second touch down.

State already had licked California and Stanford, the other Rose Bowl eligibles. But State can still make it. Everything hinges on how Oregon does against California this week and Stanford Nov. 2.

Oklahoma, which won its 44th straight game Saturday, a 47-0 rout of Kansas, goes against Colorado this week.

In the Southwest Conference, there doesn't seem to be a team capable of blocking Texas A&M's surge to another title, although at the moment, the Aggies are tied with Texas and Rice for the lead. The Aggies received an unex-

COMANCHE, Okla. (U)—T. J. Morris turned up with a political campaign button that brought a lot of attention.

It boosted Martin Van Buren for president — in 1836.

Morris found the button behind the baseboard at his home.

Gift of Kittens Causes Run by Fire, Police Departments

WELLESLEY, Mass. (U)—Five kittens were handed down from their owner to two other owners and then back to the original owner last night—but not before the first and police departments entered the picture.

The first owner didn't want them and gave them to a 16-year-old boy whose parents didn't want them.

So the second owner gave them to a boy of 15. His parents, too, ordered them out.

The boys came up with what they thought was a solution.

They rang a fire alarm bringing two engine companies and a ladder truck.

Firemen found no fire but a carton containing the kittens and a note: "Please take care of these kittens."

The firemen didn't want the kittens, either and called police. Chief Thomas Slavin did a little detective work and found the two boys.

Back to the original owners went the kittens. He is looking anew for a kitten-lover.

Safety Council Leader Sees Failure to Win War on Accidents

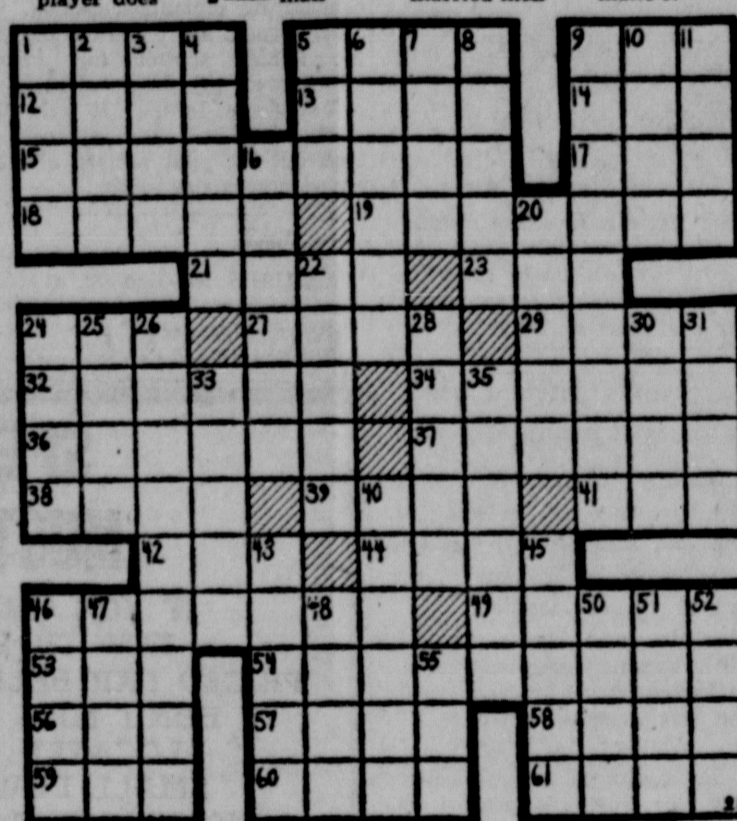

CHICAGO (U)—Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said today the safety movement has failed to rouse the public enough to win the war on accidents.

He said this was especially true of traffic accidents.

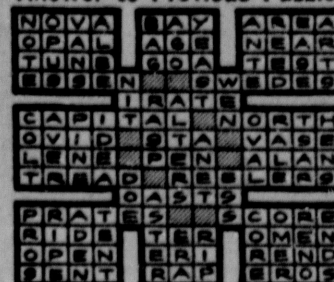

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the National Safety Congress Dearborn cited the improvements in other national health and welfare problems compared to small decreases in the nation's traffic toll.

Traffic Accidents Kill 4 in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (U)—Traffic accidents took the lives of four persons in this area over the week-end.

John A. Thayer, 66, Billings, Mo., was killed when struck by a motor car near his home Saturday night.

Francis D. Ballance, 21, Winona, was killed Saturday afternoon when his motor car overturned on U. S. Highway 60 near Winona.

In another accident on the same highway, this one near Montier, Amos Walf Watson, 32, Wichita, Kan., was killed Sunday when his car overturned. His father, Robert, 68, suffered head injuries and shock, but his three-year-old son escaped injury.

Gilbert E. Easton, 25-year-old soldier from Ft. Leonard Wood was killed when a car in which he was a passenger overturned east of Waynesville.

A 100,000 ton tanker carries 34 million gallons of crude oil. When refined as gasoline, this would fill the tanks of 782,000 automobiles.

Freight Car Load Of Artillery Shells Explode In Florida

PIEDMONT, Ala. (U)—Scores of artillery shells in a burning freight car exploded at intervals during the early morning hours here today with more noise than damage.

No injuries were reported, but around 200 residents were evacuated from their homes as a safety measure.

Sixty tons of 105mm shells were in the car, which caught fire as a Seaboard Air Line freight east-bound from Birmingham pulled into Piedmont, about half way between Birmingham and Atlanta.

Tokyo Combines Highway, Building in Same Structure

TOKYO — The longest building in Tokyo is a road — and the city's only expressway is a building.

This Oriental paradox is the result of combining a two-story building with an elevated highway: the road runs on the roof and the building curves as dictated by the course of the road.

Arising from the bed of a drained canal, the building-highway will run for almost a mile through the heart of downtown Tokyo.

Begun in 1953, the project now is scheduled for completion next year — one year late. It has been dubbed "the long castle of profits," and made the object of loud criticism and public investigations.

A private firm headed by Minoru Higuchi is building it. When completed, the building — interrupted by six bridges carrying its roof-road over intersections — will provide some 650,000 square feet of rentable space.

Higuchi's firm is collecting eight dollars per square foot as a "loan" from tenants, reimbursable in 15 years at a low interest rate. It is estimated that the total "loans" will amount to five million dollars. Annual rents charged users will bring in $800,000. Estimated total construction cost is seven million dollars.

Despite its location in the heart of the downtown area where land is more precious than gold, the city of Tokyo is paid only a small rent for use of the land, which, as a one-time canal, is public property.

Higuchi's company started with a paid capital of $33,000 and its shares are held by 39 stockholders, including the presidents of two giant Tokyo department stores, the president of a large radio station, and president of two of Japan's largest newspapers.

Takehisa Hayashi, a director of the company, denies charges of high profits.

"Look around you," he says, waving a hand at the company's drab and crowded two-room office. "We don't even have an electric fan here. That should prove to you that we are not making money. We only rent the office space in order to be able to provide the elevated highway as a free public service."

"Another proof that we are not trying to make money is that we will turn over the highway to Tokyo city as soon as it pays for itself, at the latest in 35 years."

Last month a section of the road ending at Sukiyabashi Bridge, the real heart of Tokyo, was completed and a 200-yard-long all air-conditioned smart shopping arcade opened for business.

The company rented this section to the Ginza Shopping Center Assn. which has leased space to some 80 swanky coffee-bars, tea parlors, dressmakers, restaurants, camera, stationery, sporting goods and other specialty shops.

While construction of the new highway has created criticism and some scandal, no one argues that the shopping center and elevated highway are anything but a great asset to this metropolis which claims to be the world's largest city.

This is also the view of the city planners who visualize this short-mile elevated highway as a model and link in a five-road elevated network to be constructed at an expected cost of 200 million dollars in the next 10 years.

ROAD ABOVE, BUILDING BELOW: Here's a Japanese method for conquering city traffic problems — an expressway on the roof of a serpentine building. The roadway will not be complete until next year, but stores and tea shops already occupy parts of the building which winds through the heart of Tokyo.

CAP, Air Force Halts Search for Missing Illinois Pilot, Plane

ST. LOUIS — Civil Air Patrol and 10th Air Force searchers yesterday called off the hunt for a Morris, Ill., pilot and his plane which have been missing for seven days.

Major Ruth Costello said the search would be abandoned until more clues to the location of the apparently wrecked airplane are received.

George Burkhardt, who was flying a load of baby chickens to Russellville, Ark., is the missing flyer. He was last heard from at St. Louis when he made a radio report.

The principal clue was four boxes of dead baby chicks which were found Saturday in the Hardy, Ark., area. But a search of that area did not produce anything.

In Arizona, 90 per cent of the land is used to graze the 861,000 cattle population.

Both Jordan, Israel Complain of Incident Between Two Planes

JERUSALEM — Both Jordan and Israel have complained to the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission about an encounter between a Jordan civilian airliner and an Israeli jet fighter.

The American pilot of the airliner, Capt. Jesse Stallworth of Pine Bluff, Ark., said an Israeli jet fired on his aircraft five times Saturday as he flew over the town of Aqaba Jordan.

Stallworth said none of the shots hit and he completed his flight from Amman to Cairo. Fourteen passengers and three other crewmen were aboard.

The Jordan government claimed fire by its ground forces at Aqaba drove the Israeli plane off. It said anti-aircraft fire also drove off two Israeli fighters which later attacked the ground positions.

The Amman regime said it was considering diplomatic action.

An Israeli army statement said the fighter spotted the Jordan plane over the Negev Desert 20 miles inside Israel. It said the fighter ordered the airliner to land but the pilot refused and escaped across the border.

COMPLETES SCHOOL — John E. DeWitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy DeWitt, 910 East Fifth, has been graduated as a flight engineer from Trans World Airlines flight school in Kansas City. He will fly four-engine Constellations on TWA's transcontinental routes. DeWitt, who is 23, has been domiciled at New York City, one of the 65 United States cities served by TWA. TWA's flight crews are being augmented by new personnel with expansion of the airline's fleet, including 25 luxurious Jetstream airliners.

Boy Accidentally Kills Younger Brother With .22 Rifle Shot

ST. LOUIS — A 12-year-old boy accidentally shot his nine-year-old brother to death here yesterday police said.

The dead youth was William Hankemeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hankemeyer.

His brother, Charles, was holding the .22 caliber rifle when it discharged.

Charles said he had noticed the gun was in a rack with its hammer cocked. He said he took it down to put it on safety and his finger slipped.

William was hit in the face by the bullet.

The boys' father, a gunsmith, was on a fishing trip at the time and Mrs. Hankemeyer was upstairs watching television.

The accident happened in the basement where the boys had gone to get a baseball after earlier taken their bicycles out of the normally locked room where several guns were stored.

Extra Precautions Are Taken As Result Of Threat to Queen

NEW YORK — Precautionary measures at Idlewild Airport have been stepped up for Queen Elizabeth as the result of an anonymous telephone threat to the airport last night.

A man phoned the KLM Royal Dutch Airlines ticket office at the airport and said: "There will be an attempt on the Queen's life tomorrow night."

The caller hung up. The Queen and Prince Philip depart for home tonight aboard a British airliner.

Spaniel Returns

OWENSBORO, Ky. — When Hugh Shelton returned to his parked car, his beloved cocker spaniel had disappeared.

After a two-hour search, Shelton drove back to his farm alone.

Two days later he returned to Owensboro, parked his car in the same place, and walked into a newspaper office to advertise for his dog.

Shelton returned to his car—and underneath it was the dog, which had found the familiar auto and was awaiting his master's return.

Coroner's Jury Rules Beating Causes Death

NEVADA, Mo. — A coroner's jury has ruled that George McGuire, 67, Kansas City, was beaten to death by William F. Shubert, 22, of near Sheldon, Mo.

McGuire was beaten to death with a hammer last Wednesday at the Shubert farm, where the older man was living in a trailer.

Prosecutor James Woodfill plans to file a charge against Shubert early this week. At present Shubert is being held for violation of a parole from a six-month jail term for assault.

The word tornado is derived from the Spanish "tronada," meaning thunderstorm.
